Viaduct Is Safe; Rebuilding Awaits Arterial Program

Board of Public Works Discusses Structure; Has Engineers' Approval

The Washington avenue viaduct, while in need of repairs, is structurally safe and its rebuilding, or possible elimination is dependent upon state arterial route plans, the Board of Public Works disclosed yesterday.

Discussion of Twelfth Ward Alderman James E. Martin's recent resolution asking for repairs to the structure at the B.P.W. session, brought stress on the point that the 64-year-old viaduct, had been examined a year ago and was found to have no dangerous structural defects.

The board referred to its lighting committee the alderman's proposal to improve lights on the structure, and Ernest A. Stedding, superintendent of public works, was directed to examine the viaduct and determine the need for other suggested repairs.

Major Oscar V. Newkirk reminded the board that City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was directed in July, 1948, to make a survey on the condition of the structure, and the engineer recounted results of the survey by himself, railroad and Public Service Commission engineers.

The local engineer said he wanted to study the Martin resolution before commenting on it, but he felt that since "five engines have gone over it," and found it structurally sound, he could not see "anything punky about it."

Mayor Newkirk stressed that a "clover leaf" or route interchange system is to be built by the state on the western side of the structure, and that whatever is to be done with the viaduct depends upon state plans.

The narrow bridge on the western side is to be considered, the mayor said, and although it does need repairs, the over-all improvement is contingent upon state plans.

The mayor also stressed that sidewalk damage mentioned in the Martin resolution was caused by a heavy truck, and not by any "falling through" as mentioned in the resolution. The mayor said he feared that the resolution would leave the impression that the viaduct was structurally unsound, and he wanted to correct any such impression.

Improvement of posts and guard rails was suggested in the resolution and these will be considered in Superintendent Stedding's inspection.

Reports on the planning of 10 projects with the New York State Post-War Planning Commission, by the city engineer, revealed that the plans are completed and in readiness for the time when the city might deem it necessary to begin work on any of them.

The estimated (1941 base) cost of the "major improvement projects" is $544,838.50, and all are for possible "future consideration."

Engineering cost, Hallinan said, was $450,000 or 1.57 per cent against an anticipated cost of two per cent and his letter explained that the balance of the total engineering cost of $16,310.33 or 2.99 per cent of the total "was defrayed by financial grants under contract from the N. Y. State Post-War Planning Commission in the amount of $7,810.33."

Dominicans Smash Invaders' Move by Wrecking Aircraft

Warning Is Given for Head of Guatemala, Will Retaliate With Bombings

Havana, Cuba, June 23 (AP)—A Dominican government broadcast said last night a third attempt to land revolutionary invaders in the republic by plane had been crushed.

Eight of the invaders were killed and four captured, the broadcast said. Horacio Julio Hornes, "chief of operations" for the rebels, was reported among the captives.

President Rafael Trujillo previously said the revolution had been crushed after two plane loads of invaders who landed Sunday night had been wiped out.

In Florida, meanwhile, Jesse A. Vickers of Miami Springs said a Catalina flying boat wrecked in the Gulf of Mexico was identified as belonging to him.

Vickers, who operates the Air Parts Sales and Air Marine Radio Service, Inc., said the plane took off for Vera Cruz on June 6 with a load of parts and a four-man Miami crew aboard. It was grounded in Mexico two weeks ago with engine trouble. On Sunday, Vickers said, he learned it took off for the west coast of Mexico with "a new cargo." He said he knew nothing about the whereabouts of the crew.

"The broadcast last night gave this warning:

"Arevalo (President Juan Arevalo of Guatemala) should be very careful, for if he bombs the Dominican republic, we are going to reply to him with another bombing. We have elements to do it, and if he continues provoking we shall answer him."

Guatemalan Foreign Minister Munoz Mena denied in Guatemala City that his country was involved in the Dominican incident.

Reports from Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican capital, said all was quiet. Troops, however, paraded in full combat equipment, it was said, in observance of Army Day. President Trujillo was said to have made a 130-mile motor trip through the northern region as a gesture that normal conditions prevailed.

Cuban police yesterday closed the offices of the Caribbean Democratic Action, an organization said to be enlisting men for service against the Dominican government.

Priests Say Beran Kept As Prisoner

All Contacts Are Broken by Czech Government Since Weekend; Held Semi-Captive

Arrest Expected

Vatican Unofficially Says Archbishop's Seizure Is Expected

Prague, Czechoslovakia, June 23 (AP)—Catholic priests said today that Czechoslovakia's Communist government apparently has succeeded in clamping a wall of silence around Archbishop Josef Beran.

The archbishop is in semi-captivity now in his palace in Prague. The informants said all their contacts with him had been broken off since last week-end.

Vatican informants and informed diplomatic sources here expressed the belief Archbishop Beran might be formally arrested at any time. The Communist regime has accused him of anti-state agitation. He has resisted the Communists' campaign to bring the church under state control and to crush the influence of the Vatican in Czechoslovakia.

The diplomatic sources said they thought it was only a question of time until the Communists believed they had built up their case against the archbishop sufficiently to bring it to a show-down.

According to the priests here, the Communists seem now to have sealed any loopholes through which the archbishop might smuggle another pastoral letter of defiance from his police-guarded palace.

Last week-end Archbishop Beran emerged from the palace and made two sermons in which he accused the government of trying to split the church and crush religious freedom. He also was able recently to smuggle out to his priests a pastoral letter in which he pointed out there would be "no compromise" with the Communists in the church-state dispute.

The priests said they expected no more such letters, since the police guard inside the palace has been increased.

The Communists-sponsored Catholic Action Society leadership defied Vatican excommunication last night and accused Beran and his followers of anti-state activity.

Similar Charge
A similar charge was leveled against Archbishop Beran Tuesday night by Premier Antonin Zapoteky, who warned that the law will take its course.

The Archbishop Beran and the Vatican have denounced the government-sponsored Catholic action on the grounds that it intends to split the church and permeate it with anti-Christian ideas.

Promoters and willing followers of the separatist group which has taken the name of a church organization, have been declared automatically excommunicated by the Vatican.

Leaders loyal to Archbishop Beran declare many of the Catholics listed by the government as supporting the rival society have been threatened and misled or (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

No College Draft, Hershey Reports

Troy, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—Students entering college next fall probably will be able to complete the academic year without being drafted, the director of selective service believes.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said yesterday the draft was likely to remain inactive for that period, unless it should be resumed this summer for "reasons not now apparent."

He spoke at the 57th annual meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education.

New York Milk To Be Pegged to Boston's Market

Public Hearings Planned on Proposed Method for Determining Prices

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The minimum producer price of fluid milk in the New York marketing area will continue to be pegged to the Boston market price for the rest of the year.

The Agriculture Department, which made the announcement yesterday, said also it would hold public hearings in the next six months on a proposed long-range method for determining New York prices.

Pegging of the New York price to the Boston price was scheduled to expire July 1. Under the system, the New York price for Class 1-A (fluid) milk is set at 19 cents less per hundredweight (about 47 quarts) than the Boston market price.

Producer prices in both markets are regulated by the department through federal milk marketing orders.

Actually, the six-state New York milkshed has price fixing formula based on the price of butter and powdered milk. However, because of market conditions this formula has not been used and the price has been tied to the Boston price, which brings producers higher returns.

Two milk pricing formulas for the six-state New York milkshed have been proposed by dairy groups.

One was offered by a milkshed price committee, appointed by Charles J. Blanford, federal milk marketing administrator for the metropolitan New York area.

The other, proposed by the Dairywomen's League Cooperative Association, has been endorsed by the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency.

The Dairywomen's League "simplified" formula plan would base the price on the U. S. Labor Department's index of wholesale commodity prices and on an index of dairy farming costs compiled by the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University.

This proposed formula also involves continuation of a "seasonal" price movement. This would guarantee that the Class 1-A milk price would not rise over the January price and that the price from August through December would not drop under the July price.

The Blanford-appointed committee has proposed a formula based on two indices—the Labor Department's on wholesale commodity prices and another involving the U. S. Department of Commerce's on farm prices. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Former Teacher To Help Manage Thomson Laundry

Clifford Van Valkenburgh Resigns Position at New Paltz; Taught at M. J. M.

Clifford Van Valkenburgh, who has been business manager of the New Paltz State Teachers' College since August 1947, has resigned his position to take an active part in the management of Thomson's Colonial Laundry, Inc., at 243 Clinton avenue, this city. His resignation became effective June 15.

During the war Van Valkenburgh served as a captain of Field Artillery for over two years in the E.T.O.

Before going to New Paltz he taught mathematics at the M. J. M. school here. Van Valkenburgh will continue to reside in New Paltz. Since taking up his residence in New Paltz he has been active in all organizations and civic matters in the village. He was recently elected to the secretaryship of the Hudson Valley Laundry Owners Association.

Van Valkenburgh assumed his duties with Thomson's Laundry immediately on his resignation becoming effective at the State Teachers' College last week.

House Leaders Rap Senate For Appropriations Log-Jam

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The annual year-end log-jam of money bills is facing Congress, and House leaders lay the blame on the Senate.

With just a week to go before their 1949 money runs out, every agency and department of government except Congress itself is still awaiting passage of its appropriations bill for the coming 12 months.

Many of the bills may be pried loose before the new fiscal year starts July 1. If they aren't, the agencies involved will be moneyless unless stop-gap measures are passed—as they have been in past years.

All the departmental money measures have passed the House, which set a speed record this year by getting the last regular appropriation bill out of the way on June 9. That bill, which carries the congressional budget, is the only one that has reached the White House.

Of the 10 other regular money bills, five have passed both the Senate and House but are tied up in conference. A compromise version of one of these—financing the Treasury Department—was rejected by the Senate yesterday with a demand that more money be included for cracking down on tax evaders.

Five more appropriations bills have not yet emerged from the Senate Appropriations Committee. These are the really "big" bills, according to the departmental money

Judith Coplon Tells Court Of Desire to Visit Russia

Between 30 and 40 Denies She Desired to Go There With Russian; Screams at Kelley

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Judith Coplon said today that she considered visiting Russia in the spring of 1948, but dropped the idea.

John M. Kelley, Jr., a government prosecutor in her trial on charges of stealing government secrets to give to the Russians drew out the story with a series of questions.

It was the sixth day for Miss Coplon on the witness stand and the third day in which she has been cross-examined by Kelley. Kelley said he expects to complete his questioning of the 28-year-old former Justice Department political analyst before the end of the day.

Miss Coplon said she abandoned the thought of visiting Russia without applying to the Soviet Embassy in Washington for a visa.

She had denied yesterday that she ever had any intention of going to Russia with Valentine A. Gubichev, a Russian engineer with whom she was arrested March 4. Kelley brought this up again, then asked her if she had not inquired whether it would be possible for her to visit Russia in the spring of 1948.

She replied that she did. She added quickly that the implication of Kelley's earlier question was that she considered going to Russia to live.

She then went into considerable detail about her discussions over the possibility of visiting Russia in an objective sense to see what it was like and not because I was in love with the country."

She said she discussed the matter with William E. Foley, her chief when she worked in the Justice Department, and asked him if he thought there was any chance for her "getting behind the Iron Curtain."

Even while she considered visiting Russia, she testified, she never thought the Russians would let her in because of her job in the Justice Department.

Talked With Association
She said she discussed the matter with the American Automobile Association Travel Bureau on one occasion but soon thereafter "forgot all about it."

Foley told her, Miss Coplon added, that people might misunderstand her visiting Russia in an "objective sense." She mentioned the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The tiny brunette defendant insisted, however, that she never told anyone she was going to apply to the Soviet embassy for a visa "because I never thought I had a chance in the world of getting it."

Miss Coplon visited western Europe on a vacation trip beginning in May, 1948. Kelley earlier had asked her whether she met any Communists while in Italy and she replied "not to my knowledge."

As Kelley hammered away yesterday at Miss Coplon's story of a kissless romance with Russian Engineer Valentine A. Gubichev, the calm she had displayed during yesterday's testimony

Typewriter His, He Says As Witness

Raymond Catlett, His Mother Help His Defense; Counsel Is Piqued

'Snubs' Chambers

Chambers' Visits Are Discounted by Former Maid

New York, June 23 (AP)—A former handyman for Alger Hiss testified today that the F.B.I. offered him $200 for an old typewriter which the defense produced yesterday.

Raymond Catlett, 27, the Negro handyman who worked for the Hisses in Washington, D. C., so piqued the prosecutor that he began shouting questions until defense counsel objected.

The prosecutor, assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy, became annoyed with Catlett's reference to "what Murphy called 'this alleged $200 offer'."

The battered old Woodstock typewriter became a silent witness for Hiss yesterday at his perjury trial. Catlett and his mother, who saved the Hiss family as a maid, related part of the machine's history to bolster Hiss' defense.

The prosecution charges an old Woodstock was used by Mrs. Hiss in 1937 and 1938 to copy State Department documents for transmission to Whittaker Chambers, Chambers, courier for a prewar Soviet spy ring, charges Mrs. Hiss copied the documents and that Hiss gave him, the copies.

Under cross examination Catlett said he helped trace the old typewriter. He said Hiss' brother, Donald, had given him "about $40" to offer to anyone who could find the machine.

Murphy then brought out that Catlett was interviewed by F.B.I. agents and Catlett said, "the agents said they would pay me $200 or more if I got the typewriter."

"What agent told you that?" thundered Murphy.

"One of the agents," Catlett replied mildly.

After producing the Woodstock typewriter, defense counsel began to lay the groundwork for proving its contention that the Hisses disposed of the machine before the time of the alleged document copying.

Hiss was indicted on perjury charges after he denied before a federal grand jury that he fed Chambers with government secrets to be passed on to spies; or that he ever saw Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937. The defense also used the servant at his home with Hiss' denial of seeing Chambers.

Mrs. Claudia Catlett, 47-year-old Negro maid for the Hisses in Washington from 1935 to 1938, testified that the typewriter in court was given to her family by Hiss in 1936 as a toy for her children.

Her son, Raymond, 27, who did odd jobs for the Hisses, testified the machine remained in his family's possession until at least 1941. The son testified that he recalled the gift of the typewriter by Hiss.

Catlett said he lost track of the typewriter about 1941. He said that at the request of Hiss' defense, he attempted to locate it early this year, but was unable to do so.

The witness said Edward C. McLain, a defense lawyer, later appeared at his home with the typewriter. Catlett said he identified it as the same Woodstock.

Source Undisclosed
The testimony did not bring out what McLain found the machine. The prosecutor said that F.B.I. agents searched in vain in Washington for the typewriter allegedly used to copy government secrets. At the start of the trial, the defense announced it had located Hiss' old typewriter, and would allow the F.B.I. to examine it. The machine, however, was not produced in open court until yesterday.

Mrs. Catlett testified she had seen Chambers visit Hiss' home in Washington once—but not after 1936. Her son said he never saw Chambers while an odd jobs man for the Hisses.

The maid said she served tea in the parlor for the visitor and Mrs. Hiss. The witness said she never had seen McLain chambers or her child. (Mrs. Esther Chambers had testified to visiting the Hiss home.)

Asked how many times she had

Shokan, June 23.—The annual school meeting of the Ontario central district will take place Tuesday evening, July 12, in Parish Hall, Phoenix. Business of the meeting will include an election of officers. Justus North, Albert S. Fox and Harlowe McLean represent Olive on the present board of education of the district which comprises school units in six towns in Ulster and one in Greene county.

The Misses Ann and Betty Gruber of uptown Kingston were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Elmendorf.

The Freeman sports page item on the 28-inch pike caught by a Bronx fisherman at the dividing weir of the Ashokan Reservoir will probably bring more than the usual number of fishermen here this week-end. It is common knowledge that there are still many big trout and pike in the west basin; and when someone bags a six-pounder at the weir, each fellow sportsman immediately concludes it's high time he got one, too.

Regents examinations were held in the Ashokan schoolhouse on June 20-22.

Methodist Youth Fellowship institutes will take place at the Oakwood school in Poughkeepsie on July 4-11 (senior) and July 11-18 (junior).

Edward Lamme, Sr., newspaper and commercial photographer who spent the winter with his wife and son here, has employment in New York.

The heavy stand of timothy and clover at the Greene farm is one of the pleasing sights along the trail at this time. Charlie and Marvin sure know how to produce a fine piece of new seeding.

Wednesday morning most everyone thought that at last we were in for a real rain; but alas, the lowering skies dropped only a light sprinkle, a brisk breeze came in over the Wittenberg range and by noon there wasn't a cloud in the sky. Tough luck, indeed, what with grass turning brown on hillside fields.

Remember, down in the old village long since under water, how an epidemic of pink eye would strike the school kids? Well, up in Bovina Center (cauliflower land) the youngsters have been having a siege of it, this month.

VERY CROSS EXAM

Judith Coplon, on trial in Washington, mops her brow after a long session of cross-examination in 94-degree temperature.

The government prosecutor probed her love life during the time she claimed she was in love with Valentin Gubitchev. (N.Y. Telephone) ing most of her long espionage trial evaporated.

Judith Coplon . . .

Once she leaned forward in the witness chair and shouted: "You have branded me as a spy and now you are trying to brand me as a harlot!"

She swore that her all-night trysts with Justice Department Lawyer N. P. Shapiro in Baltimore and Philadelphia hotels and in his Washington apartment involved no improper conduct. She has testified that these meetings occurred at a time when she thought she loved Gubitchev.

Call It Frame-Up

"I have come to the conclusion that Mr. Shapiro is a part of it is whole frame-up!" she stormed.

She demanded that Kelley call Shapiro, a Justice Department attorney, as a witness in the trial. Kelley suggested that her attorney, Archibald Palmer, call him. Palmer told reporters he had no intention of doing so.

Kelley brought Shapiro's name into the trial Tuesday after having the defendant repeat the story of her romance with Gubitchev. Shapiro has not been available for comment.

When his name came up again yesterday, Miss Coplon said Shapiro, too, had told her that he loved her and wanted her to marry him. But that her relations with him were platonic.

"I did not want to marry him because I did not love him," she snapped at Kelley.

She said Shapiro first learned of Gubitchev when she asked his help in choosing a necklace the gave the Russian for Christmas, 1948. She added that Shapiro disapproved of her dating a Russian, and argued with her about it.

When Kelley referred to the night of January 7—a night when Miss Coplon spent in a Baltimore hotel room with Shapiro—he fumed:

"Nothing ever happened that you intimated happened.

As for the following night in a Philadelphia hotel, she testified: "He didn't make any improper advances. I was fully clothed, Mr. Kelley."

Kelley at this point handed Miss Coplon a paper and said: "Read this and see if it will refresh your memory."

"She read, calmly, and said: "It does not refresh my recollection as to the things you want me to say went on."

Kelley took back the paper. It was not introduced in evidence. To reporters who asked him about it afterward, he said: "No comment."

The petite 28-year-old former Justice Department analyst insisted that when she remained overnight in Shapiro's apartment a few times it was "not for immoral purposes."

Warning Is Given

Washington, June 23 (AP)—A congressional committee today heard a scientist's warning of "fascism" at the Hanford plutonium plant and criticism of the Atomic Energy Commission for lack of "business sense."

The scientist was Dr. C. W. J. Wende, former director of pile (atomic furnace) technology at Hanford who resigned last March 28 his position with General Electric Company. G.E. operates Hanford at Richland, Wash. His letter of resignation containing the warnings was read to the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee today by Senator Hickman (R-Iowa), who has charged the A.E.C. with "incredible mismanagement."

New York, June 23 (AP)—District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said today that he did not plan to ask that the death sentence be commuted for John M. Dunn, unless the convicted waterfront killer "could give us something."

Hogan told newsmen that his staff has told Dunn that unless "we could point out solid achievement to the governor, we would not ask for a commutation, and it still stands."

York city and seven other cities also were requested to supply lists of their texts. The other cities were Albany, Buffalo, Syracuse, Schenectady, Elmira, Mt. Vernon and New Rochelle.

The New York City Board of Higher Education said Brooklyn and Queens Colleges and City College of New York had sent the requested lists to the committee. Columbia and Barnard reported they considered the request as a routine matter and planned to comply. New York University said it had sent a list of 200 books used in social science courses without comment.

Sarah Lawrence said its courses operate on a lecture basis with students using books in the college library.

A spokesman for Adelphi said action awaited the return of its president, Dr. Paul Dawson Eddy.

Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, president of Vassar College, said in view of 260,000 books and a mass of unbound materials available to students, it would be "too big a job to list them all for the committee."

She commented that if the request was made "for the purpose of examining text books . . ." it strikes at the very heart of academic freedom.

Chancellor William P. Tolley of Syracuse University was not available for comment. He previously had declined to discuss the request.

The cities concerned had similarly mixed reactions.

A spokesman for the New York City Board of Education said a "formidable list" arranged by subjects was sent to the committee. Mt. Vernon did the same with the comment it had "nothing to hide."

New Rochelle said it had not received a request, and reported that if one were received, the State Education Department would be queried for advice.

Today's hand might be regarded as rather uninteresting to rubber bridge players, because in many groups contracts of one are conceded. However, in tournament bridge part-score hands are very important. A championship is more likely to be decided on the results of part-score hands than on game or slam hands.

I selected today's lesson hand from one of the Wednesday night duplicate games at the Mayfair Bridge club in New York, because there you will find some of the finest rubber bridge and tournament bridge players competing. It was interesting to note that good tournament players found the correct timing on this hand, while rubber bridge players missed it entirely.

The opening lead of the deuces of spades should be won in dummy with the ace. Now at many tables the jack of clubs was the next play, and from then on declarer could not make one heart, because East jumped in with the ace of clubs and returned the jack of hearts.

The correct timing on the hand is to lead the three of spades from dummy at trick two and ruff it. Then lead a small club toward the jack. East will win this and return the jack of hearts which declarer should win with the ace. Now declarer ruffs the four of clubs with the six of hearts, ruffs dummy's six of spades with the five of hearts, ruffs the eight of clubs with the nine of hearts, and ruffs the ten of spades with the eight of hearts. Thus by correct timing the contract can be made.

Indian Benefit Exhibit Successful at Woodstock

More than $1,000 worth of Indian arts and crafts was sold at the Woodstock benefit exhibit June 4-12 for child welfare. The Save the Children Federation reported today. Contributions and admissions amounted to an additional $300.

From all parts of the Woodstock area people came to view the native art work and to buy or give for the Indians, who are being aided by the Federation in a program supplementing the work of the federal government on the reservation.

Many Navajos suffer from the lack of adequate food and clothing even in normal times, and last winter's blizzards brought bitter hardship because of the loss of livestock, the Indians' chief means of support.

The Woodstock project was undertaken by Mr. and Mrs. Tomas Penning of Saugerties, a Woodstock committee, and by the Woodstock Artists' Association which made a contribution to the work by remitting gallery rent for the exhibition. In addition, association members, were generous in their personal support of the project.

Mr. and Mrs. Penning have been voted a certificate of merit by the federation's board of directors at 1 Madison avenue, New York, in recognition of their unstinting efforts to make the exhibit such a success.

The first almanac in this country came off the Bradford Press in Philadelphia in 1687.

COMPROMISE IN EDUCATION AID

Sometimes politics is called "the art of the possible." It is a way of saying that in this imperfect world of compromises among men, ideal solutions and 100 per cent devotion to principles cannot always be achieved.

The phrase may apply to General Eisenhower's comments on federal aid to education. He took a stand on principle—a habit that is one of the reasons he is so much admired by Americans generally.

But practical-minded citizens may question whether the general in this instance is facing the realities.

Writing to a New York congressman, Eisenhower, as president of Columbia University, expressed opposition to pending bills that would grant from $260,000,000 to $300,000,000 in federal funds to the states to help pay teachers' salaries and other school costs.

He made plain his protest was against general aid to all states. He views that plan as promoting what he considers a dangerous trend toward centralized government and possibly socialism.

But the general added that he does favor federal grants to the neediest states, those now unable to maintain proper minimum education standards. He would like to see those states raised to a plane of equality with other more fortunate sections.

That, then, is the principle on which Eisenhower is standing. Not aid to all, but to the poorer states so they may equalize their minimum educational opportunities with the wealthier states.

Now, actually, the general aid to education bills before Congress embody this principle. They would use a rather complex formula to attain the very equalization Eisenhower seeks.

But these same measures go beyond that and offer a flat grant for each school-age child, so that all states will get some benefits regardless of their wealth.

The general bills are a frank compromise between the equalization idea and a broader approach. What led to it?

Senator Taft and other backers of the federal aid plan decided Congress would not support it if benefits were to be limited to perhaps a dozen poor states, mostly in the South.

They reasoned that richer states, plagued by educational troubles of their own and yelping over shrunken tax revenue, would not like paying the freight for poor states and getting nothing for themselves.

In other words, their decision was in recognition of what they considered the political realities. They were trying to legislate according to "the art of the possible."

Even with all states included, New York and a few other wealthy areas protested against the measures on the ground they were not getting enough in return for their big payments to the federal treasury. These outbursts made the compromising senators look very practical.

If they have gauged the realities correctly, a bill based strictly on the equalization principle will lose out. And if the House takes to heart Eisenhower's warnings about a more general plan, the outcome could well be no aid of any kind for any state.

By asking Congress to act on principle alone, the general has put that body in an uncomfortable position it usually manages to avoid.

How many victims are in the Russian concentration camps? Eugene M. Kulischer, a specialist in population problems, writing in "Foreign Affairs," makes various calculations which lead him to the belief that there are no less than 5,000,000. He does not keep count of deaths and replacements. As Russia's population may be estimated as about 200,000,000, this would mean that one out of every 40 would be likely to go to a concentration camp. What a come-down for a social system that was to bring paradise on earth!

THE STUMP

There is an old adage that everything that goes up must come down. Maybe the scientist knows differently, but in the field of economics it is a wholesome condition when, after a period of wartime and postwar inflation, prices do move downward. Of course, they may mean temporary unemployment and it may annoy those who received extraordinarily high dollar earnings to find that they must adjust their concepts somewhat. But an 80-cent dollar in purchasing power is actually worth more than an 40-cent dollar, no matter how it is calculated. In a word, the present trend is to make the purchasing power of the dollar greater.

The figures for the first quarter of 1949 do not justify the current fear of a deep depression, and to the extent that he is not frightened, President Truman's optimism is understandable, although while speaking optimistically every measure that he proposes justifies the most profound pessimism. His proposed remedies, being unrelated to current conditions, are a menace to national economic stability. Let's look at a few figures:

The disposable income of the American people for 1948 was $192,600,000,000; the first quarter of 1949 shows that the disposable income for this entire year will be $197,800,000,000. Of course, in the United States expenditures are highly unpredictable. Except for food, rent and such items as require day-by-day, month-by-month handling, most of the items we consume—clothing, cosmetics, household furnishings, refrigerators, washing machines, radios, automobiles and so on—do not, as a rule, require immediate purchase. When the people expect prices to come down, they postpone buying because they have plenty. Replacements are, on the whole, of a luxury character in such a country as this and can be delayed. It is the postponement of purchase which is largely responsible for the layoff of employment.

Such a layoff would have occurred earlier were it not for the Marshall Plan, which, from the American standpoint, is a dumping arrangement, designed to ship about $5,000,000,000 of American goods for nothing to Europe and Asia. This dumping arrangement, while it has delayed price adjustments in this country, could not arrest the falling of prices from the fantastic unrealities of the post-war inflationary period. When prices fall in a country where wages consume nearly 80 per cent of the earned dollar, wages must fall. As the employees do not seek to reduce wages, fearing strikes, and where the unions seek increased wages to maintain union membership, the alternatives are to lay off workers, to speed up production per man employed, or to spread the work. This results in increased unemployment. For the year 1948, unemployment amounted to 2,100,000 persons; for the first quarter of 1949, it amounted to 3,000,000 persons; it continues to rise. Probably, we shall, in September, have 5,000,000 unemployed.

But there are ample cushions to prevent such unemployment from producing a deep and prolonged depression. In a country whose people have $25,000,000,000 outside of banks and whose demand deposits amount to $81,000,000,000, this slack in employment, in a period of adjustment from inflation to deflation, is not a very serious except for the individual. And the people own $48,000,000,000 of savings bonds which they can cash in during hard times. These bonds are savings, to be used on a rainy day.

Our primary difficulty remains government expenditures. In 1948, the federal government expended $36,800,000,000; for 1949, the federal government will spend more than that amount. The first quarter of 1949 shows an increase of 3.5 per cent in federal expenditures. State and municipal governments are equally prodigal in expenditures.

Three principal factors enter into this picture: The liquidation of the war situation, which has been slow, principally because Soviet Russia refuses to permit a restoration of peace. The Russians apparently seek to keep us on a war footing in the hope that such expenditures, particularly for military purposes, will break us;

2. The high prices still prevailing, particularly labor and farm costs;

3. The habits of our people who demand government subsidies and aids for their own groups, while criticizing other groups for pursuing the same habit of panhandling, which is a harsh but accurate description of subsidies.

Some correction of these evils will show immediate improvement in our condition. (Copyright, 1949, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.

COLD, PAINFUL, TINGLING, NUMB FEET

One of the ailments that often occurs as we grow older is slowness of the circulation of the blood. It is called arterial insufficiency, meaning that the arteries (blood vessels) carrying blood from the heart to all parts of the body are not elastic enough to open sufficiently to let the blood flow freely to the outermost parts of the body, such as the feet. If the blood does not move in sufficient quantities or at a fair amount of speed, various symptoms occur—pain on exercise, pain with burning, tingling and numbness.

The cause of these symptoms may be infection of some kind which inflames the lining of the blood vessels. When inflammation passes away, scar or hard tissue replaces the elastic tissue in the walls of the vessels. Thus when the heart pumps the blood, the vessels of lost elastic tissue cannot open as wide and so blood cannot reach the outermost parts of the body in sufficient quantity. This lack of blood causes the symptoms mentioned above.

The medical treatment of "poor circulation" is a drug or drugs that dilate or open up the blood vessels to let the blood reach the part. Sometimes, as in the recent case of King George of Britain, an operation is necessary to give an increased blood supply to the part.

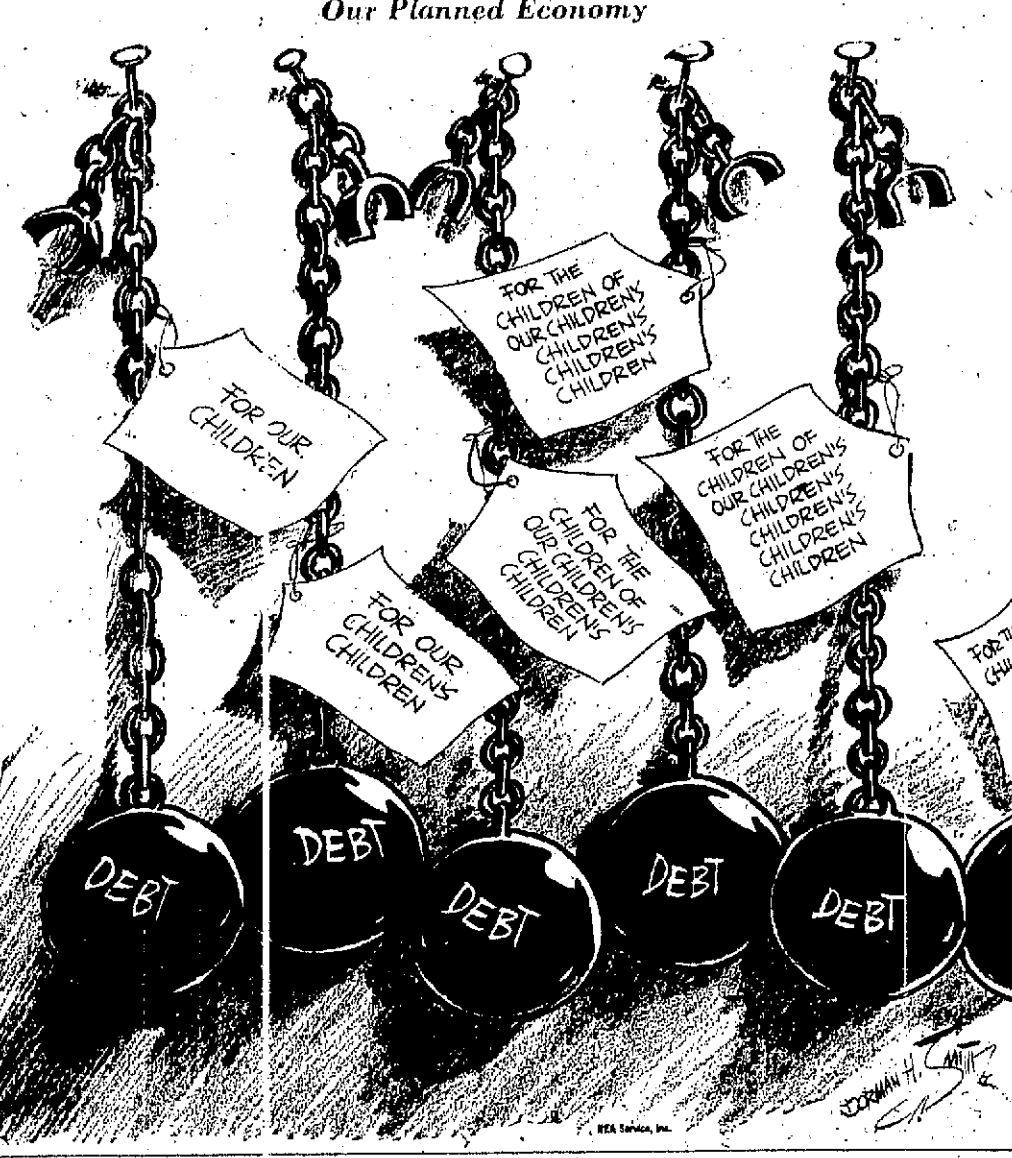

However, in the majority of cases of poor circulation of blood to the feet, relief from pain, tingling and numbness can be obtained in a very simple manner. The patient lies on his back on the bed and puts his feet up on two pillows, keeping the knees straight. He leaves them in this position until the blood runs out, leaving the feet perfectly white. He then swings his feet down on the floor and sits on his back for a couple of minutes and repeats the act of putting the feet up on the pillows and down on the floor again four to six times at least once or even twice each day.

Some mild cases obtain relief by sitting with feet up on a chair or desk drawer drawn out, after walking or other exercise.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round
By Drew Pearson

Washington — An important, backstage battle has broken out between two of the nation's highest-ranking generals — Douglas MacArthur and Chief of Staff Omar Bradley.

General Bradley wants to withdraw American forces from all the Pacific except Japan and Hawaii—even out of the Philippines. In case of war, Bradley argues that American forces caught in the Pacific would be immediately sacrificed in another Bataan. Therefore, he wants all troops withdrawn to positions we can maintain.

General MacArthur, on the other hand, wants American troops strung out around the Pacific to create spheres of influence to stem the spread of Communism. MacArthur is definitely opposed to withdrawing American troops from the Philippines and South Korea.

The tone of his cables has become so strong that mid-air General Bradley has been forced to remind him that he, Bradley, not MacArthur, is the chief of staff.

Dan Tobin's Warning
Dan Tobin, head of the powerful Teamsters Union, has sent a confidential letter to all "teamsters' locals, cautioning them against strikes and urging a conciliatory policy toward employers.

Tobin, intimate friend of the late President Roosevelt and a long-time power in the A.F. of L., stated his letter by saying that he was fearful of today's economic situation and cautioned his locals against pushing good employers for wage increases.

Tobin commented at some length on the foolishness of the Ford strike at this time. He recognized that Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, was under compulsion from union membership, but said that Reuther would have been wiser to have ruled the situation with an iron hand and forbidden the strike.

Referring to his own union, Tobin was critical of the West coast teamsters' strike and also of the teamsters in New York city. In the latter city livery drivers had struck for an unwarranted increase, on the assumption that people had to eat bread so there must be bread deliveries. But with the strike many weeks old, consumers get along by buying from chain stores and independent bakeries, Tobin said.

Communist agitation inside labor unions also came in for criticism from the forthright Teamsters boss. He said he had received reports of active Communist leadership in one teamsters' local—which he declined to name. An investigation was being made, Tobin said, and these agitators would be fired from the union when they signed non-Communist affidavits or not.

Tobin also warned his teamsters that one trouble in union organizations was the inability and unwillingness of rank-and-file members to understand economic laws. He pointed out that while members of his union are unskilled, they receive annual raises higher than bricklayers, plasterers and skilled mechanics because of the fact that the latter suffer seasonal layoffs.

Thoughtful President
A group of Four-H Club youngsters waited on the White House portico to see the President while Representatives Robert Secrest and Earl T. Wagner were inside presenting him with a petition from the Ohio congressional delegation to name George Rogers, an S.E.C. attorney, to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"I'm going to be photographed with these young people in the rose garden outside," said Truman.

"Don't let us detain you, Mr. President," urged Secrest. Just then a sudden cloudburst tattooed the windows of the President's office.

"Stick around," he told his callers. "If I take these kids out in the rain to be photographed, their fathers and mothers will be after me."

Anti-Highway Lobby
Congress is now probing the fact that the oil industry, which owes its prosperity to the gasoline burned on highways, is so shortsighted that it opposes new highways. Reason: To pay for the roads, many states are boosting gasoline taxes.

The extra taxes aren't paid by the oil companies, but by motorists. Yet the industry has already boosted "gas" prices so high they fear the public won't stand for both higher prices and higher taxes.

So, believe it or not, the oil lobby is actually fighting against building new roads.

Take North Carolina, for example: Gov. Kerr Scott, a hard-hitting Liberal, submitted a $200,000,000 road program to the voters. To finance it, he proposed a one-cent-per-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax. The oil lobby immediately and bitterly opposed, appealed to city voters to block the program.

When the vote finally came, city people did vote 5-1 against new rural roads. But the farmers amassed 225,000 votes to the urban voters' 175,000.

Meanwhile, in the rest of the nation, highways are in worse general condition than at any time since the depression. Yet the oil lobby continues to oppose new roads.

But here are the statistics: Since 1945, the number of automobiles on the highways has increased by 10,500,000. Of these 2,500,000 are trucks. All told, 100,000,000,000 ton-miles were traveled in 1948—almost double the 1945 traffic. Yet only a paltry few million dollars have been added to the road bill. Because of inflation, even this increase in dollars really has been a decrease in purchasing power when it came to road building.

Result has been wear-and-tear on automobiles, irritating traffic snarls, and an increase in traffic deaths. What the public doesn't realize is that safety can be built into the roads. Yet the public, while paying more for automobiles and gasoline, has let the highways run down.

Military Appropriations Will Have to Be Cut if Public Sentiment Is Observed
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 23—Military appropriations estimated at $15,000,000,000 will have to undergo a sizable cut.

Public sentiment demanding economy in the total budget of the federal government is rising.

Tension in the international situation has been diminished, but this is not the reason why economies are possible.

The fact that billions of dollars are available and that this means contracts to commercial interests makes the pressure for spending rather intense but there is also waste due, to a great extent, to a regrettable competition between the armed services.

This competition has been fostered instead of frustrated by the so-called "unification" movement. Originally there were two armed services—the army and the navy. Now there are three—the army, the navy and the air force.

If various bills pending in Congress are implemented, America can readily give birth to a fourth department known as the department of defense.

There is and always has been need for coordinating the armed services. What the nation ought to have is one service with three branches.

This may be possible some day except for the competitive spirit that has arisen. This has been largely due to a mistaken belief in the air force that the only way it could get recognition was either as the dominant unit of a combined single service or as an autonomous third service.

The navy, fearful that it would be reduced to insignificance unless it appeared to have force, finally agreed to compromise whereby a third autonomous service was created.

But the air force crusaders have not been content. They now are urging a single armed service with a sort of general staff such as Germany had in 1939. They would expect an air force general to head it up. To this the navy folks answer that that kind of staff lost the war for both Japan and Germany. Goering developed a unified service dominated by air force concepts.

In the army, however, are several exponents of the general staff idea. They, too, want one service and believe, of course, it would be dominated largely by generals and that money now given the navy could be appropriated for the two former units of the army.

There is nothing wrong with three autonomous services in a co-ordinated set-up. In fact, the preservation of the specialized services is an advantage in the direction of military effectiveness. But the problem today is how to keep the three autonomous services from fighting with each other instead of working on plans to defeat this country against a theoretical foreign enemy. Secretary of Defense Johnson said in his latest speech:

"The problem of resolving conflicts within the armed forces is not a simple task of knocking heads together. Its complexities extend into the intricate and technical operations of highly specialized endeavors. With the exception of a few unregenerate warriors of the old-school type, the separate services have searched diligently to resolve their differences."

But in the old-school days, there were eleven on each side and not five on one and eleven on the other. The present joint chiefs of staff consists of two West Pointers and one Annapolis man. If Secretary Johnson puts up to these three who shall get the money, a two-to-one vote against the navy—now twice recorded on major matters—is not surprising.

Mr. Johnson's most important declaration about the military establishment in his latest speech was this: "It is not a competitive outgrowth of the service's desire for profit at the expense of another."

Unfortunately, that's exactly what the "two to one" business means and encourages.

All this competition can be ended and economy obtained by letting each service have a budget of its own, fixed after conferences with the budget bureau and the President and the secretary of defense. Once the budget for each of the three services was recommended, Congress could cut as it wished and insist that each service live within its own budget. But if it was clearly understood that cuts made would be saved and not turned over to another service, the competition would end. There would be no further sniping at each other. AS PEGLER SEES IT
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, June 21—An old-line Connecticut Democrat surveyed the color-press view from the tenth tee—the New England white steep, beautiful against the full summer greenery, the mist and the cotton clouds.

"It looks the same," he said, "but it isn't our Connecticut any more. They took us over. We ran the country machine for them now it is theirs. They used our old Democratic party name and the Irish names of the old leaders. It is like when an old honored family name in business goes to seed and the heirs neglect things. Strangers inch in. They use the old man's sons or grandsons carry the name over the door."

It is what has happened in Connecticut. The Americans for Democratic Action are the hidden owners of the Democratic party. Governor Bowles is not a Democrat at all. He is boss of the A.D.A. for Connecticut. I am just a front for the Irish-Catholic vote, waiting on trade for the real owners who are all kinds except Democrats.

The A.D.A. is a splinter in the clandestine European mode. In New York the Democratic party is a front for the American Labor party, the equivalent of the old Communist party. It is also a sort of holding company for the Liberal party, which is a private handshake name for the Garment Workers Union. This party's literature and its orators frankly acknowledge a paramount interest in foreign lands. The Democratic party also is the bewildered, protesting parent of an illegitimate thing called the Four Freedoms party that was hatched a few weeks ago to catch stray votes for Franklin D. Roosevelt, the whom the Democrats refused their nomination for Congress.

Young Roosevelt ran against the Democratic candidate in that ominously un-American campaign for the seat left by the late Sol

Bloom. His Democratic opponent was Judge Ben Shalleck, respected by the Jewish community and Democrat of impeccable regularity. Roosevelt ran on two tickets: the Liberal, which is operated as a personal concern by David Dubinsky, the president of the garment workers, and the Four Freedoms. He beat Shalleck, the Democrat. How? Why?

George Sokolsky, who lives in the district, is a scholar and philosopher, an orator and a journalist of courage and force. He is the son of a rabbi. He calls himself a reformed Jew but "with orthodox feelings." He practices his religion faithfully while others who practice no religion at all have tried to get him fired for "anti-Semitism."

"On the sidewalks during that campaign I discovered that the elements of the Roosevelt government were beyond the imagination, to say nothing of the knowledge of many of these people." Mr. Sokolsky wrote. "The word 'Republican' had no meaning whatever. It had no European meaning; therefore, for them, no American meaning. The word 'Democratic' meant, really, 'Social Democracy' in the continental European sense. The President ruled this country as Stalin or Hitler ruled his, only the American president was a good ruler. Congress for them had no meaning."

"One candidate had been to the new state of Israel and he marked that to his credit. Junior Roosevelt announced that he would go after election."

Connecticut's population is mostly made up of Jews and Catholics. The decline toward Europeanism is proceeding. The Democratic party is just a title, a trademark and the old American Democrats are living on borrowed time, strangers in their own house.

In the House of Representatives a few weeks ago, Majority Leader McCormack, a New England Democrat of the helpless, captive

Questions - Answers So They Say...

Q—What is a "dead man's throttle?"

A—It is a throttle that requires pressure of operator's hand or foot to prevent power shutoff and application of brakes. An engine so equipped would stop instantly if the operator fell dead.

Q—How many copies of the Catechismus of Alexander Nowell are in existence?

A—There are three known copies of the fifth edition of the Catechismus of Nowell, who was the author of the first part of the catechism now used by the Anglican Church. One copy is in America; the two other known copies are in England, one at Oxford and the other at the British Museum in London.

Q—Can home-made grape wine that has turned sour be brought back to its former sweetness?

A—Not very easily. When the alcohol in wine turns to vinegar, it combines with oxygen from the air to form acetic acid. There is no simple way of reversing the process, that is, of changing the acetic acid back to alcohol.

I have often wondered why these people (advocates of communism) didn't go to the land of their dreams. If it has been lack of funds, this should remedy that problem. Give them a chance to prove what they say.

—Rep. Walter Norblad (R) of Oregon, introducing a bill providing free transportation to Russia for those advocating communism.

The new king (Fred M. Saigh, Jr., president of the St. Louis Cardinals) has brought in strange gods. He is building a shrine to Lady Luck and Knowlows to an old cuss named Chance. The flags of true sport are at halfmast.

Third Balcony Is Damaged at 'Met'

New York, June 23 (AP)—A fire broke out in the third balcony of the Metropolitan Opera House last night and caused damage estimated at $10,000.

The Met is closed for the summer. A crowd estimated by police at 7,000 gathered at the scene as thick smoke billowed from the six-story brick building in midtown Manhattan.

The blaze wrecked a third balcony partition before it was put out. About 50 seats were ripped out. Part of the Met's famous red plush carpet was ruined.

The fire marshal's office began an inquiry into the cause of the fire.

Oberlin College in northeastern Ohio was the first American college to adopt co-education.

Killed by 'Looper'

New York, June 23 (AP)—The "looper side" at Coney Island yesterday cost the life of 48-year-old Joseph Colwell, a repairman for the amusement device. Police said Colwell had gone onto the tracks of the "ride" to pick up some object when six 600-pound steel baskets, linked together and filled with pleasure-seeking passengers, passed over his body.

Almost one-third of Canada's surface is covered by forest.

Lipton Enlarges His Delicatessen

Increasing business necessitated the enlargement of his store, stated Julius Lipton of Lipton's Delicatessen, located at 519 Albany avenue, in commenting on the recently completed project.

The store quarters were enlarged by an addition 10-15 on the front of the building and the installation of another plate glass display window. A new eight-foot frozen food cabinet has also been added to the store's facilities.

Lipton's Delicatessen opened for business in November 1944, serving the area of Albany avenue extension with a complete line of groceries, meats, baked goods, vegetables, ice cream, magazines, newspapers, and other items.

In November of 1947, Lipton purchased the property which includes an attached residence and apartments, and this week marked the completion of the enlargement of the store facilities.

Scare Heads Are Carried

Moscow, June 23 (AP)—The Soviet press continued today to carry scare headlines on the British and American economic situation. Pravda and other papers reported U. S. steel production had declined for the tenth consecutive week and that U. S. department store sales last week were 12 per cent below those of the same week last year. The Communist party newspaper said an American magazine had predicted a rapid reduction in steel production. The Russian newspapers also devoted much space to a fall in stock exchange prices in Britain and British press comment.

Firm Is Sued

New York, June 23 (AP)—Fifty-three Polish seamen, who jumped ship here, are suing a Polish steamship firm, the Gdynia-America Line, for $10,000 each. They claim they abandoned their ship, the S. S. Sobieski, because of fear of "political persecution," and that the steamship line refused to return their seamen's papers. Without the papers, they said in the suit filed yesterday, they have been unable to get other jobs and "have been put in the position of displaced persons." The sailors also seek back wages and vacation pay.

As Pegler Sees It

American host, arose to say that Edward Hebert, of Louisiana, was not properly entitled to the privileges of a Democratic member because he supported Governor Thurmond, of South Carolina, for president last fall. Therefore, Hebert was allowed to sit as a Democrat "only through tolerance."

Mr. Hebert replied he was elected on the Democratic ticket whereas F.D.R., Jr. was not a Democrat in any sense. "He was elected as a member of Dubinsky's private political party, the Liberal party, and he will have the approval of a party called the Four Freedoms," said Mr. Hebert. "I confess I never heard of that before. He was also actively supported by the so-called Americans for Democratic Action, the left-wing faction which split the Democratic party wide open in Philadelphia with the so-called civil rights plank. It was this wing which caused some southern delegations to walk out. This same A.D.A. tried to ditch Truman in favor of Eisenhower or Douglas. Four years ago in its Chicago convention this A.D.A. openly declared it owed allegiance to neither the Democrats nor Republicans but would go along with the Democratic party for the time being because, through this medium, it could accomplish some of its ends."

Yet, McCormack fawned on young Roosevelt and his mother, who formed the A.D.A. McCormack and even Truman are not merely helpless, like a man in a terrible dream or a bird before a snake. Worse, they have guilt like the small Connecticut local leader, the Irish Democrat of the ancient stock, who inwardly knew that he was having traffic with an insidious enemy but couldn't bring himself to throw down party loyalty and be "an American at all cost. We are far on our way toward the fate of France where splinters and parasites multiplied and spread confusion until there were forty parties. The voters were lost in confusion and even professional politicians groped and reeled into the pit."

Pay Roll Bandits Sought

East Rutherford, N. J., June 23 (AP)—Police are searching today for two hoodlums disguised as painters who made off in broad daylight with a $16,500 pay roll. The pair held up Sam Kolodny yesterday as he and police Patrolman Curtis Schreiber drove up to the East Rutherford Syringe Co. plant with the pay roll. They took Kolodny's car for their getaway. Scores of passersby and workers in the factory saw the holdup, but thought it was some sort of practice session for the company guards. Police said the robbers abandoned the Kolodny car about a mile away and switched to a planted sedan bearing New York license plates. The Syringe Company employs about 100 workers. It makes hypodermic syringes.

New Summer Vaudeville Policy

A new summer vaudeville policy will go into effect at The Broadway on Friday and Saturday, June 24 and 25, Manager Robert W. Case announced today, with the Nobel Trio, a center ring circus act, headlining the professional stage show, and the new first-run movie "Song of India" as the screen attraction.

The summer shows, Mr. Case said, will stress fast-paced sprightly stage entertainment, plus a top-quality picture, presented three times daily. Portions of the shows will be aired from stage from time to time by radio, and special attractions presented to augment the regular fare.

"Song of India" which opened on Broadway only two weeks ago and stars Sabu, Gail Russell and Turhan Bey is an exciting, well-photographed story of Indian princess and wild animal hunts in the Indian jungles. Miss Russell portrays an Indian princess, with Sabu as the prince of the jungle.

The Nobel Trio, long headliners in the circus circuit, work on the world's highest parallel bars—which tower 20 feet above the stage. The two men and a girl go through a spectacular routine of twists and twirls, often so high from the stage level that they are hidden by the ceiling curtain.

Also lending a circus-like to the program will be the Glen Henry Duo, a man and a woman presenting a juggling and balancing routine while rolling and teetering atop huge silver balls. Recently imported to America from Sweden, the Nordic team pitch Indian clubs, hoops and balls at each other with lightning speed while both are balancing themselves on the big globes.

Vickey Sunday, young television singing star, who has been featured on the "Doorway to Fame" and Vincent Lopez video variety shows, will sing popular ballads and current novelty songs.

Dancing will be supplied by Toy and Wing, billed as "Youthful Chinese Dance Stylings." Master of ceremonies will be Danny White, the "Modern Hep Cats Favorite." In addition to keeping the show rolling, White does a singing comedy bit of his own that has kept him steadily employed in New York supper clubs for the past several seasons.

College Graduates Sought to Fill Teacher Vacancies

Because of an acute shortage of teachers, it is possible for qualified college graduates to receive temporary certificates as public school teachers after attending one summer program of intensive training at the State Teachers College at Geneseo.

This announcement was made today through the local office of the State Department of Labor's employment service at 243 Fair street. Local college graduates interested in the program may make application at that office, according to George J. Stanton, manager.

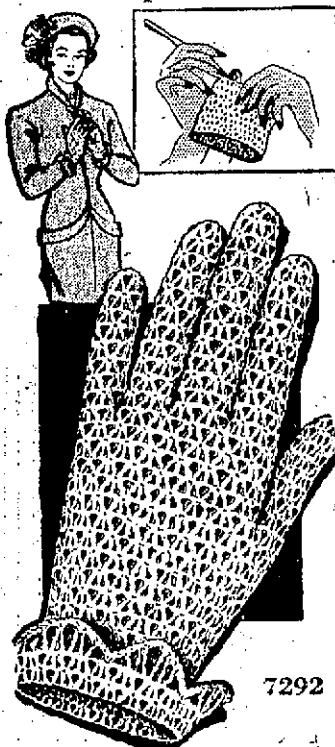

Geneseo College authorities reported that the demand for June graduates is so great that each of them who is willing to accept a position already has one. To help meet this shortage of teachers the school has developed a special intensive training program for well-qualified college graduates who are interested in entering the teaching profession. Qualified applicants will be permitted to enroll in the college's summer program in which they will receive intensive training in the theory and practice of teaching. Through special arrangements with the State Education Department, enrollees will be given temporary certificates enabling them to begin work as public school teachers this September. Summer training of the enrollees will continue for at least two additional summers. If their work in the summer programs and on the job is satisfactory, they may expect at the end of that time to receive a regular teacher's certificate. During the school year while teaching they will receive regular pay as teachers.

of paving, and East Strand (absorbed by the B.P.W. paving program). Start of any of the projects is contingent upon the city's special fund for an extra work program. The plans are in readiness for whenever needed.

The board considered five other resolutions from the Common Council aside from that by Alderman Martin on the viaduct.

The board moved to notify Tenth Ward Alderman Carroll by letter that his proposal to use fill from the Broadway crossing project on the Sterling street dump, was more directly a consideration of the contractor than that of the B.P.W.

Consideration of another resolution by Alderman Martin asking for installation of the traffic light system removed from Abel and Wurts streets, at Washington avenue and Pearl street, resulted in the board's decision to wait out recommendations of the Common Council traffic control committee to which the resolution also had been referred.

The board voted to notify Alderman Martin by letter that his resolution asking for a covering over animal runs at Forsyth Park, was not clear. Covered areas exist at the runs, it was revealed, excepting where the alleys are kept, and the board asked for more detail on the alderman's suggestion.

A resolution, also by Alderman Martin, asking for the rebuilding of Lucas avenue, was tabled, when it was explained that the project was on the public works program, but it could not be determined at this time, when the money will be available.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Registrations are pouring in from Boy Scouts all over Ulster-Greene Council for attendance at Camp Tri-Mount, the summer camp of the council at East Jewett. The five-week season opens on Sunday, July 10, and already more than one-half of the available places are taken. Walter T. Tremper, chairman of the council camping and activities committee, said today that there is every indication that the number of Scouts at Camp Tri-Mount this year will far exceed last year's registration.

According to Mr. Tremper's announcement, the camp is ready for the influx of campers. Staff appointments confirmed are: Charles E. Boardman, field scout executive of the council, is camp director; Thomas W. Jones of West Orange, N. J., is the waterfront director, assisted by Donald Hendrickson of Explorer Post 3, Kingston; Evan H. Boardman, veteran Scout of Auburn, New York, will be unit leader; Joseph McInerney of Post 3, Kingston, will be camp clerk and storekeeper; Eagle Scout Richard Fein of Troop 36, Saugerties, will be camp bugler.

Troop 76 of Wallkill, sponsored by the Rose-Shooley Post American Legion, has led the way for all other units in the council with a camp registration of their entire troop of 20 Scouts for two weeks at Camp Tri-Mount. Edward Niddrie, scoutmaster of Troop 76, and one troop committee member will accompany their scouts to camp.

Troop 32, sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church of the Atonement, Saugerties, is another troop which will camp as a unit. William Daum, Jr., scoutmaster, will camp with his Scouts during their entire stay. Other units going to camp in groups are Troop 14, Kingston; St. Peter's Holy Name Society, Kingston; Kenneth McNeill, scoutmaster; Troop 70, Highland Interchurch Committee, Alfred Haefeli, scoutmaster; and Troop 72, Marlborough Men's Club, James M. Kelly, scoutmaster.

Activities programs at Camp Tri-Mount this year will feature the making of personal camping gear such as lightweight tents, pack frames, cooking kits, etc. Campers will receive expert instruction in pioneering, woodcraft, camp cooking, signaling, knife and axe handling and care, nature study and compass. Instruction on the waterfront will include life saving, swimming, boating and canoeing.

repaving of North street, which is in an extremely bad state of repair, is listed as a "must" on the current program. It is a big and expensive project, he said.

The board asked for more specific detail in a resolution by Seventh Ward Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin asking for relocation of light and telephone poles which are within the bounds of city streets, and the changing of "guide wires or slays" which also extend into streets.

The board rescinded a contract between the city and Mrs. Michael Kentling, 24 Pine street, for the Forsyth Park concession, because of the illness of the applicant's husband, and awarded the contract to Marie Weider, 162 North street at a bid of $60.

Walter Houghtaling, 125 Hasbrouck avenue was awarded the concession contract at Hasbrouck Park at a bid of $40. The contracts run to and including Labor Day.

The following playground supervisors were accepted as appointed by action of the board: Edmund Nelter, John Boudukas, Natalie Ann Murray, Helma Rosenberg, Mary Rose Dempsy, Edward McCauley, Shirley Piester, Jean Macfele, Lorraine McGinnis, James Gilpatrick, Rhoda Ribber, George Leirey, David Rosenthal, Dorothy Wilson, Rosemary Scully, Gloria Ahlers, Barbara Whelan, Norma Manos, Mary Dunn and Pat Burns.

Action on the request for a light on Hamilton avenue was deferred until next month pending further investigation.

Sing Sing Prisoner Gambles With Life, Aids Science

Ossining, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—By gambling with his life, a Sing Sing prisoner has helped write recent medical history.

Even today, doctors are waiting to see if he will live or die as a result of the latest experiment for which he volunteered.

The dramatic role that 49-year-old Louis Boy has played in major medical tests was detailed yesterday for the first time.

Some of his deeds had been told previously, but he had remained anonymous. And authorities had not disclosed that the same man had figured in several tests—any of which might have killed him.

Boy is serving a life term for his part in the 1931 murder of a garage cashier during a New York city holdup. He was convicted with two other men. They were sentenced to electrocution, but Boy's sentence was commuted in 1932 by then Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1942, the government was testing atabrine as a weapon against malaria. To determine if the drug was poisonous, Boy volunteered to take it. It didn't hurt him. Later, millions of American service men in the war used the drug to stave off malaria.

In 1943, a "guinea pig" was needed on which to test a new influenza vaccine developed by the Rockefeller Institute. Boy again volunteered, and escaped possible death.

Several weeks ago, in a last-ditch attempt by doctors to save the life of a small girl dying of Leukemia, Boy submitted to a blood exchange during which he took a quantity of the child's infected blood into his own body.

The girl later died. Doctors say Boy seems all right, but it may be months before they know if he will survive.

Workman Is Rescued

New York, June 23 (AP)—A tunnel workman was rescued by police early today after he was seriously injured in a fall half-way down an 80-foot storm sewer shaft in the Bronx.

Police lighted a cigarette for the victim, Peter Fagin, 32, of (29 Gregory avenue), Mount Kisco, N. Y., and hauled him to the surface in a litter rigged with ropes. It took a police emergency squad an hour to rescue Fagin from the board of water supply shaft at Burke avenue and Bronx Boulevard.

Pilot's Skill Saves 43 on Big Craft

Memphis, Tenn., June 23 (AP)—A pilot's skill and split-second judgment were credited today by the American Airlines with bringing 43 persons alive through a jolting crash landing followed by fire.

Thirty-eight of those aboard the huge two-engine Convair were injured when the airliner crashed two minutes after taking off from Municipal Airport here yesterday. Spokesmen for American Airlines lauded Capt. Ed Hatch of Memphis for his skill and judgment in crash-landing the craft in a field after skidding it across a highway and into a large tree.

The craft, the Fort Worth-New York "City of San Antonio," nosed down three and a half miles from here. When Captain Hatch brought it to a stop, company spokesmen said, a wing was smashed, an engine was ablaze, and its gasoline was loose.

Thirty-eight persons were treated at hospitals but 18 were released. None of the others was reported in critical condition.

From the passengers' came stories of terror and heroism and praise for Hatch. The airlines gave this explanation of Hatch's dilemma:

He noticed the engine trouble promptly and found his remaining engine running hot. He could try to crash land or make it back to the airport. He decided to land in the field. The plane narrowly missed striking high tension wires.

Henry D. Boyle of New Orleans, a passenger, said passengers screamed as the plane smashed across the field and into the tree and a big sky.

Among those reported unhurt or only superficially injured were Genna Belinski of Bridgeport, Conn., and Walter J. Leary of Irvington, N. Y.

Shirt Collars

Your husband's shirt collars will last longer if he remembers to slip his necktie into place before donning his shirt. This, according to the American Institute of Laundering is better than forcing the collar up and back down again after the shirt has been buttoned.

'Counterfeit' Is Charged

Detroit, June 23 (AP)—Ford's wage freeze proposal was denounced as "counterfeit security" by the C.I.O. United Auto Workers today. The union's formal rejection, delivered by President Walter Reuther, also termed Ford's proposal a "flight into fantasy" and "upside down economics." Last week Ford asked the U.A.W. to withdraw all its economic demands, including a wage increase and $100 monthly pensions, for a period of 18 months. Wages meanwhile would be pegged to the cost of living.

Plan Is Proposed

Trenton, N. J., June 23 (AP)—Deputy State Milk Director Chester D. Schomp has offered a plan to prevent New Jersey milk price wars while allowing free competition on the price the housewife must pay. It would maintain Governor Driscoll's policy of fixing only farm minimums, but would require all milk distributors to post prices with the state each month and live up to them.

Although Colorado began its settlement with the gold rush, it has been predominantly an agricultural state for many years.

Small Chicks Lost In Hurley Blaze

Fire at the Schuyler E. Weidner farm, mountain road, Hurley, early this morning destroyed 400 small chickens in a brooder house.

The blaze was reported to the Hurley Fire Department about 2:20 o'clock and about 40 volunteers responded.

The fire made rapid headway in the small house and it was consumed when the firemen arrived. Excellent work was done by the volunteers in saving a smaller building six feet from the brooder house.

Interesting Data

Rosendale, June 23—The June issue of "The Countrywoman," official monthly publication of Associated Country Women of the World, with which organization the Home Bureau is affiliated, contains some interesting information about our world neighbors, through information obtained from the women's organizations of the various countries affiliated with A.C.W.W.

Among items of special interest was one concerning the Unalakleet Women's Club in Alaska, which has included in its by-laws: "Every mother must bathe her child every week. Children must be put to bed at 8 o'clock." It is a custom among the Eskimos for the entire family to stay up so late at night neither parents nor children want to get up in the morning. One school in the Arctic area has solved the problem of hardiness by serving breakfast to children who appear at school on time! The club has inaugurated a community fair with educational and recreational projects. Included in handicrafts are clothing items made from skins which the women tan and sew together with sinew. This form of needlework requires teeth as well as hands, and results in the gradual wearing down of the women's teeth. Knitted clothing and carved ivory are also included in handicraft displays.

Every member of the Ulster County Home Bureau units is an affiliate member of Associated Country Women of the World through the Home Bureau's membership in the international organization. The current president of A.C.W.W. is Mrs. Raymond Sayre of Ackworth, Iowa. Information contained in "The Countrywoman" discloses that members of women's home economic clubs throughout the world are interested in the same things for themselves and their families: better education for their children, nutritive food, and improved home living conditions.

Handyman Says

been questioned by F.B.I. agents, Mrs. Callett said "I didn't keep the time or it, but they came plenty often."

At one point in her cross-examination, Mrs. Callett referred to the F.B.I. men and said:

"There were so many of them asking so many questions that I don't remember all I told them. I told them the truth, and if it's wrong, I'll say it's wrong."

"When I saw Mr. Chambers in Washington he asked me more questions than the F.B.I. He told me I was the one that made good mashed potatoes."

Government counsel asked: "Well, you do make good mashed potatoes, don't you?"

Mrs. Callett replied sharply: "Anybody can mash potatoes. I never made any mashed potatoes for him. He was trying to make me believe that he was at the 30th street house—which he wasn't."

The furniture he described and asked me about was in the P street house."

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 23 (AP)—Buying interest in stocks expanded today and leading issues advanced fractions to around a point.

The improvement followed a hesitant start. As trading progressed, though, early gains were extended and losses either cut or wiped out.

Trading quickened a bit when the market showed signs of advancing but overall activity was still limited.

The upward trend was less the result of real buying power and more due to limited offerings of stock for sale.

One of the fastest performers was Reo Motors with a rise of around a point to 9 1/2 following news of an army contract.

Others ahead included U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodrich, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Schenck, Distillers Corp., Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Superior Oil of California, Gulf Oil, Barnsdall Oil, and Eastern Air Lines.

Running into minor difficulties were Boeing, National Distillers, Western Union, Cigna, General Electric, J. C. Penney, N. Y. Central, and American Airlines.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. Governments showed fresh signs of firmness in over-the-counter dealings.

Ahead in the curb were Lone Star Gas, Niagara Hudson Power, Amstar, C. I. Paragon, Oil, American Natural Gas, Arkansas Natural Gas Common and "A," Babcock & Wilcox, Cities Service, Creole Petroleum, Falcold Camera, and Aluminum Co.

Mrs. Eisler Is in London

London, June 23 (AP)—Mrs. Brunhilda Eisler, wife of Gerhart Eisler, arrived at London airport today en route to Berlin, where she hopes to rejoin her fugitive husband. She was deported from the U. S. yesterday. She charged U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark with "an act of vengeance" in holding her for nearly six weeks on Ellis Island. "It looked as if they were going to hold me there as a ransom for my husband," she said. Eisler fled the United States while on bail, pending his appeal of two convictions by American courts. The fugitive Communist was lugged off the Polish ship on which he stowed away when the ship arrived in English waters, but a British court refused to send him back to the U. S.

June Uniform Price
Estimated at $3.57

New York, June 23 — Dairy farmers will be paid a uniform price of $3.57 per hundred weight for their June deliveries of approved plants in the six-state New York milkshed, according to a forecast released Wednesday by Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area.

He estimated at the same time that the producer differential differential for June would be 52 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

The price forecast, Dr. Blanford said, is based on an estimated production for the month of 682 million pounds. This would mean an average of 485 pounds a day by the estimated 46,900 producers in the milkshed.

Handlers must submit reports to the administrator on the use made of their milk receipts for June not later than July 10. Using these reports, the administrator will compute and announce the actual uniform price and the differential for June not later than July 14. Handlers must then make payments to their producers not later than July 25.

Elm Pests Reported
Busy in Kingston

Two insect pests working as a team are ravaging elm trees along the lower Hudson valley.

They are the elm bark louse and elm scurfy scale. Both are severe near Rhinebeck, Kingston and south through Poughkeepsie to Newburgh, Dr. S. W. Bromley, entomologist of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, reported today.

Tiny and inconspicuous, and grayish in color, they hide in crevices of the bark. But they are so numerous—perhaps a million working on a single elm—that they do much damage by sucking vitality from the tree.

Evidence of their destruction is a wilting of leaves and dying of branches.

"This is often confused with Dutch elm disease," Dr. Bromley said, "although neither pest is related to the spread of the infection."

The pests mean slow death to elms, "picking off" or causing the death of one limb at a time.

The elm bark louse and scurfy scale are resistant to spraying except in the crawling stage. For this reason, tree owners should make a note now to spray their elms early next spring or late next winter with a dormant oil—the most effective control. This will prevent renewed outbreaks next spring.

Best tip to home owners now is to feed elms under attack so the trees may have their vitality restored.

Although Nevada is the sixth state in size, it is smallest in population.

Block Park Movie Scheduled Tonight

The Kingston Recreation Department tonight will inaugurate its program of summer movies, according to Andrew J. Murphy, III, director.

This evening's feature, scheduled for 8:45 at Block Park, is "It Happened Tomorrow," starring ring Dick Powell, Linda Darnell and Jack Oakie.

Murphy pointed out that it is a lively comedy fantasy—a man buys tomorrow's paper today and knows everything that is going to happen 24 hours ahead of time. Dick Powell as the newspaper writer finds that knowing the news a day in advance does not do him a bit of good and usually gets him into a mess of trouble.

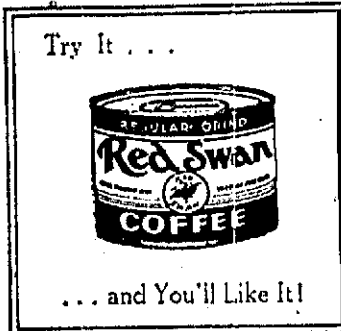

The movie will be shown on the community night stage, unless rain interferes. In that event the audience will move under the pavilion.

The same movie is to be shown at the Veterans Housing Development Friday at 8:45 p. m., but will not go on if it rains.

Maverick Cast Gets Big Welcome On Opening Night

Woodstock, June 23—A hearty welcome was given to the resident company of the Maverick Summer Theatre on Wednesday when Tom Reddy opened his second season as manager with a commendable presentation of "Sky Lark," a humorous story of American marriage.

The three-act play by Samson Rathboun will continue every evening through Sunday, June 26. Curtain time is 8:40 o'clock.

A conflict between Lydia and Tony Kenyon as portrayed by June Glover and Dan Magnan assumes gigantic proportions when Kenyon proposes to his wife that they give their treasured cock to a prospective client as a bribe to clinch a big account.

Kenyon, an advertising account executive has become so enslaved to his business he has little or no time to devote to his wife. Discontented she longs to re-live the earlier though poorer days of wedded life.

Everyone in the cast contributed to the smooth-running production, handling their roles in a natural manner.

June Glover, who made several appearances last season, and Dan Magnan, a new member of the company, displayed keen understanding of their roles.

In the supporting cast are Kathy Guilford as Charlotte Franklin; Roy Graves as Ned Franklin; Bob Guest, the director, as Harley Valentine; Bill

Body of Mother Found Mutilated

Morrison, Ia., June 23 (AP)—The nude and mutilated body of a 22-year-old mother was found early today on the floor of a walk-in refrigerator in the tavern she and her husband operated.

Grundty County Sheriff John A. Meyer said the victim, Mrs. Harvey A. Stahlhut, 22, was slain by a maniac who cut her throat from ear to ear, cut off her breasts and slit her body right down the center.

Sheriff Meyer said the body was found by the young woman's husband who had been out of town last evening. Mrs. Stahlhut had operated the tavern last night during the husband's absence.

The Stahlhuts had living quarters adjoining the tavern. Their year-old son was found in the bed unharmed and the day's tavern receipts had not been touched, the sheriff said.

The sheriff said his investigation had "barely been started" but added there were no immediately apparent suspects in the case. He was awaiting arrival of a State Bureau of Criminal Investigation agent.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Who remembers when we first had men telephone operators? I notice in the Kingston City Directory of 1894, which was loaned to me by Stanley Dempsey, that David C. Betts, of 43 Auburn street, was listed as "telephone operator." Later on, I understand Miss Flora Bernstein, of 173 Pearl street, became the first lady telephone operator, when Winter Brothers had the telephone exchange. Jake Bernstein told me about it and it was verified by the Winters.

Also see under Armour Beef Co. Jacob Forst listed as superintendent of the plant at Ferry street near the Rhinebeck Ferry. Ambrose Barth of 448 Hudson street is listed as tobacconist, manufacturer and dealer in cigars, and toys, confectionery, etc., also shaving and hair cutting establishment. Stebbins, Brodhead and Van Wagenen's store is listed at 261 Broadway in 1894. A Dr. L. J. Brodhead, graduate of the American Veterinary College of New York city, is listed at 99 North Front street, but to reach him by phone you had to call Henry Kelder's Livery Stable of 273 Fair street. There is also a listing of William D. Brinnier and Alvan S. Newcomb, lawyers of 53 John street. William F. Brodbeck was acting agent American National Express Co. with office in Rondout.

Who remembers the picturesque name of Bull's Hotel, John J. Christiana proprietor, whose advertisement read: "Good accommodations for man and beast by the day or week. Good bar attached. Meals at all hours. 22 to 26 Hurley avenue, Kingston, N. Y. A bull's head is illustrated in the ad."

Albert Burger was listed as a barber and musician, office at 723 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y. Residence at 65 Van Buren. Advertisement: "Practical and professional musician, teacher of violin, banjo, cornet, etc. Music furnished for special occasions, any number of pieces desired."

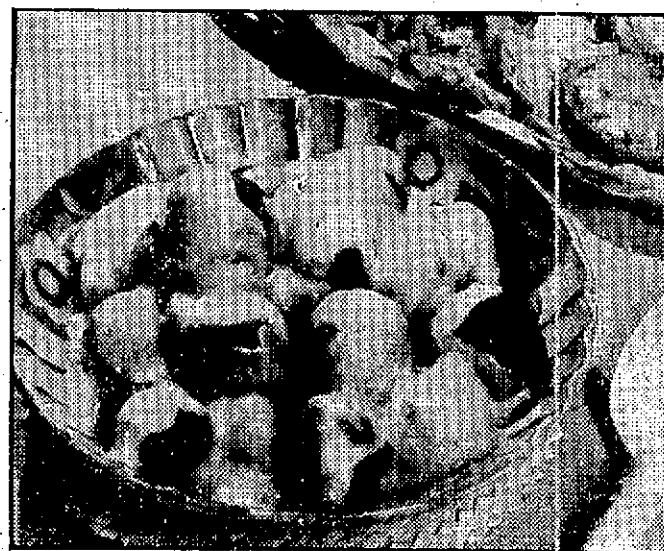

Who said "that selling every thing in a drug store is a modern idea of chain stores? This from the same 1894 Kingston Directory of Drug Store at 30 Strand, near Post office, Rondout, Elvin Deyo, manager. Choice family groceries, provisions, crockery, wood and stone ware, rope, drugs, medicines, perfumery, patent medicines, trusses, supporters, paints, oil, brushes, glass, putty, etc. Goods delivered free in any part of the city."

Illustration with this ad. is an open delivery wagon and horse.

Who remembers the Hoffman House, at 66 North Front street, corner Crown street, of which Abram Dudley was proprietor? Or Martin P. Elgo's saloon at 80 Strand. I see Eltinge & Schoonmaker Drug Store went even further, with lamps and fixtures, fishing tackle, garden seeds, fine china, and medicines at 328 Wall street and also 317 Fair street.

"Poor Richard's Almanack," the most famous of such Colonial publications, made Benjamin Franklin a rich man.

Beets with Savory Sauce Mayonnaise Does the Trick

MANY a homemaker serves beets rarely because her family frowns each time they appear on the table. This may be due to the fact that few women know more than one or two ways to serve this excellent vegetable.

Today we suggest a new recipe recommended by the Best Foods Consumer Kitchen. We believe it will meet with family approval and make beets a frequent request item on the menu.

Savory Beets Mayonnaise

1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon cornstarch

Heat grated peel and orange juice in double boiler. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. Add all at once and stir until thickened and clear. Add blended real mayonnaise and sour cream. Add drained beets and heat in double boiler 15-20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

TO AVOID FAILURE ALWAYS USE

FLAKO

PIE CRUST MIX

You know beforehand, at every baking, that your pie will be light, flaky and golden, because Flako's quality ingredients are precision-mixed. No guesswork, therefore no failures. You simply add water, roll and bake.

Wonderful Soup—
with Real Mayonnaise

WOULD YOU EARN a reputation as a mystery chef with a special flair for a soup that soothes and stimulates at one and the same time? Nancy Holmes, of Best Foods Consumer Kitchen, suggests you try this one at your next bridge luncheon or Sunday night supper party. Wait for the reaction. Curiosity is sure to be reflected, at least on feminine faces. Once the compliments are garnered in, you may be generous with your secret or just a bit reticent about telling all. Tomato Richard tastes like a soup you'd spend hours to bring to perfection. Actually it calls for the time it takes to open a big can of tomato juice and put in the shredded vegetables, with a few extra minutes for simmering and adding the real mayonnaise.

Tomato Richard
6 cups tomato juice
1 medium onion, chopped fine
1 cup coarsely shredded carrot
1/2 cup finely shredded celery
1/2 cup shredded green pepper teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
teaspoon sugar
2 bay leaves
6 tablespoons real mayonnaise
TOPPING:
1/2 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons real mayonnaise
Chopped chives

Simmer tomato juice, vegetables and seasoning for 10 minutes. Remove bay leaves. Stir a little of the hot mixture into real mayonnaise. Then blend all together. Whip heavy cream and fold in mayonnaise. Serve soup piping hot topped with mayonnaise cream topping and sprinkled with chopped chives. Yield: 6 servings.

Electric Industry
Growth Described
At Rotary Meeting

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Kingston Rotary Club held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel, President Ernest R. Ackers of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, stated that the nation's business-managed electric utilities have met wartime power demands and postwar load growth with ingenuity and resource. He pointed out that the electric industry is now embarked on a $9,000,000,000 expansion program which will be completed in 1951 and which will add approximately 52% to the industry's generating capacity.

In emphasizing the ability of privately-owned electric utilities to meet power demands during critical periods, Mr. Ackers said: "With relatively few brief curtailments and some shifting of industrial load to off-peak hours, the private utilities met the demands of their customers in full. And now, with the lifting of the ban on the production of electrical equipment, the utilities are embarked on a program that will entirely restore the reserve electric capacity of the country. This program reflects the faith of the business-managed utilities in the future of American industry. It reflects their faith in the good sense of the American people. It is their answer to those who advocate 'creeping socialism' and wish to push expensive public power projects at the sacrifice of the taxpayer."

Mr. Ackers added that Central Hudson, like most utility companies, was successfully meeting increasing customer requirements by intensive construction. He said that the present investment in the company was $53,000,000 but that by 1952 Central Hudson must spend an additional $27,000,000 on new facilities. The main items of expenditure would be $12,500,000 for a new steam generating electric station at Danversham Point, $2,500,000 for a hydroelectric plant at Neversink, and $1,800,000 to bring a natural gas supply to Central Hudson's gas transmission system.

Concluding his speech with an appeal for cooperation against socialistic trends in government, Mr. Ackers said: "It is important to note that the issue of public power represents not merely the fight of our industry against socialism but the fight of all industry and of the American people for the preservation of their democratic principles of government. We are encouraged by the fact that the issue is receiving increasing attention in the press and national magazines of the country, but this alone is not enough to stem the demands of special interests for sectional and class advantage. It is the public duty and constitutional right of every business organization and of every thinking citizen to promote public understanding of the dangers involved in the course which we are now pursuing and I am sure that the electric industry will continue and redouble its efforts to bring to the general public a clear understanding of the principles at stake and, in particular, a full knowledge of the sound economics involved in the public power program."

AN EMBARRASSING EXPERIENCE

It is doubtful if anyone has escaped the following embarrassing situation: "I had the misfortune to break one of a pair of beautiful old China ornaments belonging to a friend. I have tried everywhere to duplicate it without success. So I ended by sending her the best I could. She just telephoned and thanked me, but she was quite obviously not overjoyed, and kept repeating that I shouldn't have sent it. Was I wrong in doing what I could?" Judging by your phrase "the best I could" suggests to me that you had to send her an unmatching piece, which was, of course, an evidence of your kind intention. However, it could not take the place of the one that was broken, which would explain the lack of warmth in her voice. The only thing that you might have done was to have gathered every scrap of the broken piece and asked to be allowed to take it to a repairer.

Give Company Something to Eat

Dear Mrs. Post: When we have company, may I continue to prepare the dinner we normally have? My husband and I are on a diet.

Answer: This depends upon how palatable your diet dishes are. If they are not appetizing or likely to appease the normal appetite, you should add one or two ordinary dishes.

Asking Guest to Carve

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother and I live alone and ordinarily she does the carving. When we have a man guest, should he, or may he, be asked to carve?

Answer: You might ask him, "Would you prefer to carve?" If he is not accustomed to carving, it is unlikely that he will mind watching your mother.

Every hostess wants a beautiful table, perfectly set with silver, linen, table decorations and candlesticks. Mrs. Post's booklet, No. 504 gives full directions for table setting.

Formulating Plans For Safety Council

The organization committee of the proposed Safety Council met at the Kingston Chamber of Commerce office last night and developed plans for an organization to be presented at an open meeting at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, June 29, at the city hall in the court room on the ground floor. The committee urges that all those who attended the last meeting, plus anyone or representatives of any organization interested in any phase of safety and accident prevention to attend the meeting next Wednesday.

Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the organization committee, announced today that a very informal, coordinating type of organization will be proposed. The committee will suggest the name Ulster County Safety Council to consist of a advisory board of 40 members and the chairman of any functioning committees which may be appointed. The advisory board would consist of a president, three vice-presidents, a secretary and five members at large. It might be noted that no treasurer has been proposed.

The suggested purposes are as follows:

- 1.—To help promote a safety consciousness among the people of Ulster county.
- 2.—To teach and show men, women, and children how to avoid accidents.
- 3.—To enlist a city and county-wide interest in safety.
- 4.—To record and publicize statistical records on safety.

Under the proposed set-up, the program would be largely educational and carried on almost exclusively through established agencies interested in safety and accident prevention, with the council providing information from numerous available sources, suggesting programs and activities. A speakers bureau might also be established for the use of any organization or group desiring to put on a safety program or a series of safety programs.

The committee which will report at the open meeting next Wednesday consists of Chairman Kurdt, Mrs. Harry P. Van Wagenen, Miss Esther Schiss, Edmund R. Bower, Captain Andrew S. Hickey, Richard Kalish and Peter Keresman.

And for fruit salads—COTTAGE CHEESE-NUT MAYONNAISE adds a wonderful flavor flourish. Just blend 1/2 cup cottage cheese with 1 cup Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise and 1/4 cup broken nut meats. So easy to make—so delicious too!

↑ Top Trick for Sauces

The creamy goodness of Real Mayonnaise is ideal in hot sauces for vegetables. For POTPOURRI SAUCE—put 1/2 c. Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise in top of double boiler. Stir in 6 tbs. milk. Add following chopped ingredients: 2 tbs. each of parsley, green pepper, onion; 1 tbs. pimiento; 2 hard-cooked eggs. Heat thoroughly; and serve.

Wonder Spread for Bread

It spreads so smoothly, so evenly, even on the thinnest bread. Adds such a fine festive flavor to the simplest lunch or picnic sandwiches. You just can't beat Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise—it's truly a super spread. No wonder children like it so much! And Real Mayonnaise is so rich in good food value too!

★ ★ Magic for Thrifty Baking

1/2 cup Real Mayonnaise will replace shortening and one egg in your pet recipe for corn muffins or shortcake. Marvelous flavor too!

Sensation in Soups

Serve this CHERRY SOUP chilled, or hot—but be sure to serve it temptingly seasoned with Hellmann's! Set aside 1/4 cup red cherries for garnish. Put balance of can in saucepan with 3/4 c. water, 1/2 c. sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1-inch stick cinnamon, small strip lemon rind. Boil quickly 8 min. Rub cooked cherries through fine sieve. Stir 2 tbs. water into 1 tbs. cornstarch and add to cherry purée. Add cherries for garnish, simmer 4 min., stirring frequently. Top with 1/4 cup Real Mayonnaise folded into 1/2 c. whipped cream. (Serves 6)

Here are more "magic touches!"

Try them all—and see for yourself how Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise adds flavor magic to dozens of different foods.

No wonder! It's so flavor-rich with good things . . . freshly broken eggs, added egg yolks, "Fresh-Press" salad oil, mild vinegar, and spices.

Dress Up Leftover Vegetables with its golden goodness. Broiled carrots, or cauliflower, sautéed in Real Mayonnaise make a crusty treat.

Transform Yesterday's Mashed Potatoes by whipping them again with Hellmann's, and browning them in the oven.

Add Zest to Croquettes by using it as a binder. Efficient! Delicious!

Perk Up Hamburgers by spreading them with Hellmann's before you broil them. A gourmet touch!

Flavor-Toast Buns and Rolls! Cut them, spread with Real Mayonnaise, pop under broiler. In a few minutes they're golden brown, flavor-rich!

And of course—there's endless salad magic in Real Mayonnaise. Wonderful "as is"—and you can vary it many ways! Add fruit juice. Mix it with catsup or chili sauce. Blend it with whipped cream. It won't turn watery because, unlike ordinary "salad dressing," it contains no starchy filler. Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise is all pure mayonnaise. That's why it's America's favorite! That's why it's so good so many ways!

Miss Gertrude Lillian Rasmussen of the Bronx and Arnold Thomas Fedde, Stone Ridge, were married recently at the Incarnation Lutheran Church, Brooklyn. The reception was held at Bay Ridge Hofbrau, Brooklyn.

Y.W.C.A. Presents Major Concert

A concert of major proportions was given in Kingston Wednesday night when the Y.W.C.A. presented Miss Patricia Benkman, young American pianist, as guest artist and Miss Elizabeth LaTour and Raymond Howe, Jr., two of the community's own young artists in a program. Proceeds were for the local association.

The virtuosity of Miss Benkman's playing was indeed brilliant as she played some of the most difficult compositions of the Liszt repertoire. She opened the program with the Liszt variations on a bass motif from Bach's B Minor Mass entitled Weinen, Klagen—Sorgen, Zagen, which required the utmost of technique and command of the power in the piano for expressing the religious fervor and gentleness of the work.

Even more truly Liszt were the Three Transcendental Etudes which require brilliance and great emotional interpretation, two of the pianist's many tributes which make her one of the exceptional pianists in the country today. She also played the lovely Arabesque by Schumann and the extremely difficult Variations on the theme of Cello by Rachmaninoff.

For encores she played two Fairy Tales. Throughout her playing she maintained the feeling of complete devotion to her music and her selections were those few pianists attempt to include in their repertoire.

The opportunity seldom presents itself for a community's own talented singers to be heard in such an excellent program as Wednesday night's concert.

Miss LaTour and Mr. Howe have so much to offer in their singing. Each of the voices has developed immensely until the singing is equal to most heard in programs of out-of-town talent.

Miss LaTour who has a clear gem like soprano voice sang the bel di vegnere from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," and Mattinata by Leoncavallo for her solo numbers. She sang Thine on Me by Scott for an encore.

Mr. Howe whose baritone voice is both mellow and resonant sang Si, tra i ceppi from Handel's "Berenice," and When I Have Sung My Songs by Chabrier with Brother Will, Brother John by Sacco for an encore.

For duets the singers chose Bess and the Duke from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess"; La ci darem la mano from Mozart's "Don Giovanni"; and Will You Remember? from Romberg's Maytime.

Norma Matthe Champanier was the unusually fine accompanist for the singers. She also has a background of concert and opera work and association.

Colonials Score Two in 10th to Edge Stamford, 4 to 3, Behind Cauvel

Locals Notch Third Straight Victory In Thriller; Return Home Saturday

They threw it away three times and then won it the fourth time, did these rampaging Colonials in a sensational ten inning thriller, against the Stamford Pioneers, last night before more than 500 fans at municipal stadium.

It was a handsome reward for Larry Cauvel, the new southpaw acquisition (courtesy of North Front street), who pitched a beautiful nine-hitter but appeared to have lost the decision in the tenth.

Then came the big break—boost by shortstop Santiago—and the winning run clattered across the plate. The triumph was the third straight for Manager Julie Laviano's tossers—and their fifth in the last six starts. The final score in this magnificent victory was 4 to 3.

The thrilling tenth inning sent the customers drooling. It started with a walk to Frank Granato, who had experienced a nightmarish evening up to that point—three strikeouts and a double play.

Abreu lined a solid shot to left field for the first out. Hope flared when Ralph Matzer drew a walk and groans followed when Granato was nailed at home plate on Gerald Murray's single to right. The customers moved uneasily toward the exits when Eddie McNamara came to the plate, but he fooled them with a single into the right centerfield alley scoring Matzer with the tying run. Hamilton Graham was inserted as a pinch hitter for Cauvel and slammed the first pitch to shortstop where Santiago fumbled it, and then reached desperately for the handle trying to force McNamara at second base but the throw was too late. Murray was across the plate and the Colonials were in.

Cauvel outlasted three Stamford flingers—Don Kohler, Sam Gaines and Lew Rosin, who was tagged with the loss. After the Pioneers moved ahead 2-0 in the first on Jim Callahan's 375-foot homer over the left center field fence, Cauvel pitched eight straight scoreless innings and pulled out of terrific jams in the seventh, eighth and ninth.

Cauvel Tough
It required heroic hurling by Larry to stand off the desperate Pioneers in the ninth when they loaded the bases with one out. There was a conference around the mound and Cauvel went to work on Stein, a dangerous hitter, and forced him to ground to Murray who got a force at the plate. The threat subsided when Bush, the No. 3 batter, jammed into a force play at second.

Stamford's third run launched the extra inning activity when Callahan bounced a double off the center field fence. Kaproski bunted him to third and Swicki dropped a change of pace pitch into center to put Stamford ahead 3-2. Cauvel lightened up, forced Leone to pop up and got Rosen on a force play at second.

Perlmutter scored Cauvel who walked with a double off the left center field fence in Kingston's third.

COLONIAL CAPERS—Danny Perlmutter, who drove in the first Colonial run, made a sensational one-handed catch on Stein against the centerfield barrier in the sixth. Stein stopped at second and had

In the ROUGH

By CHARLES J. TIANO Sports Editor

• The Guy Who Steals First:
One of those baseball rarities, a guy who can steal first base, was brunching with the Old Judge, the New Judge and the sports editor. The baseball rule book says you can't do it legally—but the chicanery, guile and finesse by which the mercur-footed youngster gets on base is grand larceny under the mazzdas.

Outside, the thermometer was sizzling around 100, or just about as hot as Danny Perlmutter has been for our Colonials in the last few weeks. By artificial methods, the clubhouse temperature was lowered several degrees as the personable City College of New York (CCNY) alumnus talked about his baseball, past and present and future.

• The Colonials Will Click:
With his batting average hovering around the hallowed .400 mark, fielding brilliantly, his base running spectacular and a growing species these days, the current id of Colonial runner is the fabulous pre-war Billy Ostrum, has the stability which the colorful southpaw lacked, and does everything you can ask of a ball player.

There is nothing ersatz about Danny's loyalty to his teammates, his manager and his gratitude for the Kingston fans. He believes the Colonials have righted themselves after a horrendous start and will establish themselves as pennant contenders in the last two thirds of the race.

• Tips From a Rival Player:
The current sensation recalled an incident when he joined the then budding Colonial League two years ago, fresh out of C.C.N.Y., where he starred in baseball but passed up basketball.

• High on Ray Rieschler:
The outfield dash has done his share of bouncing around the OB trail, got as far as the San Diego club where Jimmy "Tipper" Collins, the old Gas House, was manager. Then came stints in the Western International and Interstate loops. He figures he must move up in the next couple years. It would be surprising indeed, if Danny doesn't move to Class A or higher next spring.

It may come as a surprise to some that Perlmutter rates Ray Rieschler as one of the top pitching prospects in the league along with Frank Dameri, the Latino from Brooklyn. "Ray has everything a pitcher needs except experience. He is quick as anybody in the league," "Quick" being the trade name for speed.

What did he think of Ed Hrabosak, the Stamford speedball artist who has been registering phenomenal strikeouts totals? "Only fair, he's too wild and, besides, he's our meat. We just love that man."

Did he like Kingston? "It's a swell place and they certainly treat us great."

P.S.—We thought the Chamber of Commerce might like to know that.

By The Associated Press

BY JOE REICHLER

Quick now, who is the regular first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals?

The average baseball fan probably has to think twice before answering "Vernon (Nippy) Jones," but the 24-year-old sophomore first sacker, in his colorless, but efficient way, is doing a bang-up job Manager Eddie Dyer.

Although he is shoved into the shadows by glittering teammates, it is doubtful if any other Redbirds has done as much as Jones during the past 10 days to boost the Cards up to their present spot in the National League standings—a mere half game out of first place.

In the Cards last nine games with Brooklyn, Philadelphia and New York, Jones has wrecked enemy pitching for 17 hits in 38 times at bat. He's driven in 17 runs and boosted his season mark 41 points to a respectable .311.

Cards Outslug Giants

Jones collected three hits last night to help the Cards defeat the Giants, 11-8. The victory moved the Redbirds to within a half game of the first place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were defeated by the Reds in Cincinnati, 4-3.

The Cards won the hard way, making up an 8-1 deficit with the runs in the fourth, two in the sixth and a winning five in the seventh.

Cincinnati had to go 11 innings to defeat the Dodgers. Three successive singles by Peanuts Lowrey, Grady Hatton and Walker Cooper furnished the winning run after two were out. Ewell Blackwell pitched two and a third innings of relief, receiving credit for his first victory of the season.

A trio of homers by Herman Reich, Hank Sauer and pitcher Dewey Adkins helped the last place Chicago Cubs outlast the Boston Braves, 9-8. Bob Muncie, one of the 10 pitchers used in the game, was credited with his first victory as a Cub.

Dino Restelli, rookie Pittsburgh outfielder, celebrated the end of his first week in the majors by blasting two homers—his fourth and fifth—to lead the Pirates to a 12-3 triumph over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies. Vic Lombardi went all the way to notch his first victory of the season.

Tigers in Second

The Detroit Tigers regained second place from the Philadelphia Athletics, defeating the Red Sox in Boston, 13-4, while the Indians in a 14-inning thriller, 7-3. The triumph, coupled with New York's split in its doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns, left the Tigers four games behind the front-running Yankees.

The Yankees received a scare from the cellar-dwelling Browns who whipped them, 5-1, in the opener. However, the Yankees came back to outscore the Browns, 10-8, in the nightcap. In the other American League game, the Chicago White Sox, behind the steady hurling of southpaw Bill Wight, defeated the Senators in Washington, 4-1.

The Tigers blasted four Boston pitchers for 18 hits, good for 26

Colonial Roundup

The Poughkeepsie Chiefs and Bridgeport Bees had to go into an extra inning Wednesday before the Bees triumphed, 10-9.

The Chiefs had nobody but themselves to blame for the setback. Don O'Dell sent them ahead, 9-5, when he blasted a three-run homer in the seventh. A four-run outburst by the Bees in the next inning made it 9-9 and Bridgeport edged across what proved to be the winning run in the ninth.

The Bristol Owls took the Waterbury Timers, 5-3, Wednesday but lost an outfielder doing it. Rubin Gomez sprained his ankle trying for a fluke homerun ball and will be out of action several days, trainer Joe Beane said.

Gomez touched off a two-run rally for the Owls in the fourth frame by singling. He singled again in the fifth, this time driving in two runs. Al Canaday hit the game's only homer in a losing cause.

Completing Plans For Horse Show Scheduled Sunday

Woodstock, June 23—With the third annual spring horse show, sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club, to be held Sunday, committees are busy checking every possible detail in connection with the big event to insure the efficient and smooth running show that has come to be associated with Woodstock by riders and owners of New York and adjoining states.

At an informal meeting Tuesday afternoon, President Virgil Van Wageningen congratulated committee chairmen on the preliminary work in connection with the show. Since accidents are apt to occur particularly in the jumping classes, Van Wageningen stated that the Public Health Nursing Committee would lend a stretcher which will be at the field for any emergency. Morvin Doremus and Reggie Lupo have offered their services for first aid treatment at the field.

Stabling facilities have been made available by Loma Stables and Mink Hollow Ranch for horses entered from New Jersey and Newburgh. Members having extra accommodations in their stables are also helping out.

Although the program printing got under way at the Kingston Freeman Monday of this week, entries continue to come in, the latest are from Connecticut and Massachusetts. It is not too much to expect a minimum of 100 post entries on show day.

Attention around the clock is being given three mounts owned by club members. A jumper, saddle horse and pony entered in various classes are on the sick list and though veterinarians in attendance are somewhat encouraging about the outcome, nothing definite can be said on this score until the day of the show arrives. In the meantime, members spell each other in administering to the animals. All three, in the past, have taken blues in competition and owners had high hopes for them in the forthcoming show.

Although the club has sponsored spring and fall shows for the past three years, horse show week as such has been inaugurated for the first time this year. It is not unusual to have in attendance 1,000 or more spectators at the shows and it is the belief of the membership that the reputation which has been achieved for the type of show put on can be of benefit to the entire community.

With this in mind, a special exhibition of drawings and of paintings featuring horses by prominent local artists, members of the Woodstock Artists Association, has been hung in Deane's Gallery Room. It has already attracted sufficient attention so that it will be continued a week beyond the date of the horse show.

Some of the merchants displaying the trophies which will be awarded for classes other than those receiving cash prizes, have taken the trouble to arrange special backgrounds in keeping with the idea. Included in this group are The Men's Shop, Hilda Lightstone's, Stovell's, and Rosalind Shop.

The next big event of the week will be the horse show, round and square dance at the Town Hall, Thursday, June 23, beginning at 8:30.

The first of the 19 classes scheduled will be called into the ring at 9:30 a. m. Show chairman, Mrs. Herbert Culler, Kingston well-known horsewoman, promises the public the largest and most interesting show of its kind in this locale.

Woodstock, June 23—A resolution sponsored by 11 New York congressmen has had the enthusiastic approval of local World Federalists. Its sponsoring members are Representatives Byrne, Celler, Davies, Heller, Javits, Klein, Keating, Multer, Powell, Reihman and Tauriello. Ninety representatives in all supported the important resolution towards strengthening the United Nations.

The resolution, "It is the sense of the Congress that it should be a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations and to seek its development into a world federation open to all nations with defined and limited powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression through the enactment, interpretation and enforcement of world law."

Mrs. Hans Cohn will be glad to hear from anyone interested in receiving information or in becoming a member of the local chapter, United World Federalists.

Edna Thurber Show

Five cubs have signed up for the second period at the camp and five more for the third. Cub Scouts, 9-12 age group, are sponsored by the Woodstock Masonic Square Club.

Fair Well Attended

Woodstock, June 23—The market fair opened last Saturday morning with the usual large throngs visiting, admiring and buying the numerous articles on display. Several new and interesting items have been included this year. Just about every available space on the grounds was in use. Attending the market fair each Saturday morning throughout the summer months has become a ritual with Woodstockers and visitors.

Village Notes

Woodstock, June 23—Mrs. G. E. Shute and grandson, Shipky Ware, Dallas, Texas, are here for two weeks visiting her brother, Harry Chaffin.

Dr. and Mrs. William Hitzig have opened their house for the summer months. They arrived last Friday.

The Rev. Harvey I. Todd presided at the christening of Jonathan Nicholas Hubbell, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hubbell last week at the home of the Misses Wilna Kiersey and Nan Mason. The godparents were Dave Hufine and Wilna and Nan. A reception was held immediately following the ceremony. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Striebel, Mrs. Erica Parker, Mrs. Roland d'Albis and son David, and Mr. and Mrs. David Hufine. In the evening 50 friends came for a picnic supper. The ceremony and later festivities were recorded for young Jonathan.

Eddie Mann, cartoonist associated with John Striebel, entertained a large group of friends in his Bearsville home last Sunday afternoon.

Miss Dorothy Varian has fully recovered from her recent illness and is here for the summer months.
